New Student Service Fee Added Over Summer

by Michelle Tellier

Students once again faced paying more money to ULowell with the return of school this year. The Board of Regents added a $415 increase and a new student service fee of $60 was approved by the Board of Trustees.

Originally, the Board of Regents wanted a $500 increase but SGA President Tom Winston and Student Trustee Patrick Demers felt while students would be paying more money, they would be receiving less services. The added tuition money would go to pay for academic costs but would not pay for any student services. So along with the support of senate, they presented a plan to President Hogan to lessen the tuition increase in exchange for the added fee. The money raised from the fee would pay for non-academic services voted on by the SGA executive board which otherwise would not be paid for by the university. The fee was approved at a trustees meeting on June 21.

A trust fund was established to hold the money raised by the fee but plans have been made to use a good deal of it already. $47,000 is going to pay for jobs on campus. An assistant director of residence life was hired to fill the position left by Elizabeth Sampson and the new full-time position of assistant director of student activities and commuter services was created. Both salaries will be paid out of this trust fund along with many new hired student assistants.

$19,000 will be used to pay for recreation sports including buying new equipment for the gym. $3000 will pay for resident life security by hiring students to monitor the resident halls. Additional money will be spent on a vehicle for the escort service and the executive board is looking into hiring a health educator to run information and awareness programs in conjunction with student health services.

In the future, Tom Winston is hoping to create a center for student services to help students deal with the problems they face on campus. Winston said that he hopes to make it customer service orientated to help with problems from billing and financial aid to class schedules and registration. The center would be designed so that one person would work with a student until the problem was solved rather than the existing process of having to deal with the many offices on campus. The money for this center would also come from the newly created service fee.

Welcome Back to another semester at ULowell.

University of Lowell Police Officers Graduate from Academy

On July 8, 1990, four officers from the University of Lowell Police Department graduated from the Basic Police Recruit Academy conducted by the Massachusetts Registry of Motor Vehicles and the Massachusetts Criminal Justice Training Council. These University Police Officers were a part of a class number 6-90 that underwent the most extensive training ever provided to any group of entrance level police officers in the Commonwealth. This class spent seventeen weeks in training, under the direction of Academy Director Donald F. Reilly, Sergeant

"Rocky" J. Lapomardo, and Registry Officer Todd McGhee. The seventeen week academy curriculum included instruction in the areas of Police Community Relations, Accident Investigation, Criminal Investigation, Alcohol related enforcement techniques, self-defense, domestic violence, conflict resolution and crisis intervention, substance abuse and criminal and motor vehicle laws.

All academy graduates were certified as Infrared Breath Test Operators, First Responders in Medical Aid, Pursuit Driving and Radar Operators.

Graduates of Class 6-90 from the University of Lowell Police Department included Officer Mathew Gheorghiou of Arlington, MA. Prior to joining the department, Officer Gheorghiou was a Suffolk University police officer, and attended Northeastern University and Suffolk University for 2 and 1/2 years. Officer Gerard Emond is from Dracut, MA, and was a former security officer with the Lowell General Hospital and Hospital Police Officer with Choate-Symmos Hospital in Woburn, MA. Officer Shaun Santos is the son of Officer Arthur Santos of the Lowell Police Department, a Lowell native, and Lowell High School football Defensive Coordinator, and a 1988 graduate of the University of Lowell with a degree in Criminal Justice. Officer

Robert Gagne, also a Lowell native, was a former Corporal in the United States Marine Corps, and has attended Craven Community College in Havelock, North Carolina. During graduation ceremonies held at the Metro Training Complex in Needham, MA, Officer Gagne represented the graduating class and brought their greetings and appreciation for the outstanding training they underwent.

Officer Shaun Santos brought distinction and credit to himself and the University by receiving the "Top Recruit Physical Fitness Award". He was presented with an engraved plaque from Academy Director Donald F. Reilly. In his remarks, Reilly praised Officer Santos for the high standards he had set for himself and by meeting them, he excelled to become the recipient of this most prestigious award.

The new officers are currently on campus undergoing in-service orientation and training and will shortly be assigned to regular patrol duties.

The selection process that brought these officers to the University Police force included a competitive entrance level written examination, an oral board examination, a comprehensive background investigation, a physical and psychological screening along with completion of a pre-academy physical agility test.

Arts & Entertainment

Hey you! Write for Arts!

by Rita M. Rouvalis

For all of you who actually read the Orientation issue, you'll remember this piece, so you can skip to the rest of the page without wasting any more of your time here (so I'm lazy, big deal). For all of you returning fans, I'm running these pages for the second year in a row. And I've finally got the hang of it. Hi. I'm the editor of the Arts and Entertainment pages of the Connector. This little column's chief purpose is to impress upon you the amazing urgency in your life to write for my pages. Why? Because it's a ton o' fun — and you get lots of freebies besides.

"Freebies?" you ask. Last year I sent people (with dates) to see 7 plays — most of them Boston shows — for free. I also sent writers to the movies for free and gave out a lot of tapes. Ok, I admit that most of these tapes were garbage (said with a cheap French accent), but if you like off-beat music, then come see me about the slew I will undoubtedly get in the fall (and check out the school radio station, WJUL).

You say you are a freshman (or an engineer, for that matter)

Hello, Dolly

The curtain rises on the fifth anniversary season at the University of Lowell Center for the Arts with Hello, Dolly! on Sunday, September 23 at 7:00 pm. This production, by National Touring Musicals of New York, stars Broadway performers Mimi Hines and Phil Ford.

The original production of Hello, Dolly! was a record-breaking triumph. The show won ten Tony Awards, an all-time record for a single show. Running seven years on Broadway, it was the most popular musical in American stage history.

Based on Thornton Wilder's "The Matchmaker," and with songs by Jerry Herman, Hello, Dolly! tells the story of Dolly Levi, an effervescent, meddling marriage-broker living in New York during the Gay Nineties, who is determined to match her most eligible client to herself. The object of her scheming is Horace Vandergelder, a curmudgeon hay-and-feed dealer whose one deniable virtue in Dolly's eyes is that he is "half-a-millionaire." Of course, in the end, Dolly accomplishes her purpose, but there's a dizzying tumble of eccentric characters, merrily mixed-up plot lines, and rabble-rousing numbers along the way.

Mimi Hines' career as a singer and comedienne started on "The Tonight Show" in 1958. She sang "Til There Was You" and the show's host Jack Paar cried. From that day on, Mimi Hines was in demand as a headliner in nightclubs and concert halls around the country. She appeared on Broadway for two years, replacing Barbara Streisand in Funny Girl and are insecure about your writing ability? Don't sweat it, I wouldn't let you make a fool of yourself! I edit any material that goes to print — and I'm a Senior English major, so I can at least pretend to know what I'm doing. And I'm more than happy to help you with your prose. Just ask any of my writers.

And if you are an aspiring English major, this is a GREAT chance to work on your writing -- as well as your golden opportunity to hang out with some of the coolest English majors on campus. You'll even score a few points with faculty.

So come on up to Fox 426 Monday nites at 6 pm. You'll get free pizza and meet the most hip hop happening people on campus. Including members of the infamous campus triumverate. Oh — and ask specifically for me, Rita, the Arts editor — don't let Geoff (tall, blondish guy muttering bad puns) con you into writing for news. That department never has any fun -- my department partyed all summer and will continue straight into the fall. Write for Arts; it's the place to be.

and then starred in the national touring companies of I Do, I Do!; Anything Goes; No, No, Nanette; and Sugar Babies, among others.

Mimi Hines' partner, Phil Ford, was the male lead in Funny Girl and has played opposite her in many national touring company productions of Broadway shows. Part of a vaudeville family, he has been a song and dance man since childhood and continues to headline with Mimi in clubs and concert halls from coast to coast.

Hello, Dolly! will be presented at Lowell Memorial Auditorium, 50 East Merrimack Street in downtown Lowell. Tickets are priced at $19, $17, and $15 with special discounts for students, senior citizens, groups, and WGBH members.

This event is sponsored by the Lowell Hilton.

More Adventures in Dining sponsored by the ARA? No, not quite... The Commutuer Association is sponsoring The Royal Lichtenstein Circus on September 24, 1990. Watch for Details.

Where O' Where should I grab some eats?

Restaurant Review

by Rita M. Rouvalis

Whether you're a commuter or a resident, chances are you are going to check out the restaurants around campus eventually. So here's an indication of what they're like.

Johnny's

A clean, friendly place where you can get a good breakfast, lunch, or supper — along with a pitcher of beer if you are of age. The prices are reasonable and the food is good. If you're in the mood for something different, try their South Campus sub — a cajun style cheesesteak. They also have a version for you North Campus folks that is chock full of too many cold cuts to mention. And they are coming out with something new this fall: a Party Pizza.

Lena's

A major drawback to this place is that it is never open. I'm exaggerating, but its hours are pretty short. You have to try one of their Teriyaki Steak subs -- they are truly a unique taste sensation.

Jason's

Under the green awning, there is another place to get a reasonable breakfast on those mornings when you arrive three hours early to get a parking space. And unlike any of the other restaurants, they are open on Sunday mornings.

Astros

Not just any old dive, but a campus legend. Not-so-great food, tacky, run-down decor, and a filthy kitchen are what awaits you at this hangout. This holy place has only one thing going for it: cold beer in dirty glasses. Venture forth at your own risk.

Star

I include this one for you poor computer science majors who are looking forward to being chained to the terminals in "the dungeon." Located on Merrimack street, two blocks over from Wannalancit, the place really looks like a hole. But the food isn't bad (although it can tend toward the greasy side), and it's cheap. A cheese pizza is $3.50 and a huge Greek salad with about a pound of feta cheese on it is $3.00. The neighborhood is terrible so avoid it at night.

Banners

This is a fairly new place located next to The Flick next to the Wannalancit Mills. The prices are a little high, but it is a nice place to bring a date.

ARA

Avoid it whenever possible.

U Lowell Performing Arts Series

About to begin its Fifth Anniversary Season, the Performing Arts Series at the University of Lowell Center for the Arts features nationally and internationally known artists in music, dance, theatre, and jazz. With more than twenty events over the year, the Center presents performances both on campus at Durgin Hall and in downtown Lowell at the Lowell Memorial Auditorium, St. Anne's Church, the First Baptist Church, and The Whistler House Museum of Art.

The season opens on September 23 with Hello, Dolly!

On October 5, the Virtuosi Wind Quintet, five first-rate New York musicians, will perform classics from traditional and contemporary woodwind repertoire.

The Center will present jazz trumpet player Tiger Okoshi on October 13. A special event, not part of the Performing Arts Series, the performance is free and open to the public.

The series continues on October 20 with Pilobolus Dance Theatre, a sextet of dancing iconoclasts known for their zany originality and compelling, rollicking brand of modern dance.

On October 27, New York theatre and cabaret singer Leigh Beery will join the Jazz Pops Ensemble and Wintersauce Chorale for a performance of Broadway show tunes. There will be cabaret seating and the floor will be cleared for dancing.

That powerhouse of jazz the Count Basie Orchestra, and guest vocalist, will smoke and wail with the swinging standards of the Big Band Era on November 2.

Clarinetist Daniel McKelway and three other award-winning young artists on piano, cello, and violin will join forces on November 9 for an evening of traditional—and adventurous—chamber music.

Next, on November 16, the Gregg Smith Singers, the most recorded classical vocal ensemble in the world, will perform everything from music of the Renaissance to Broadway show tunes.

Three programs will light up the holiday season. First, on December 2, the Worcester Chorus and Orchestra with guest vocalists will return to this year's series with an encore performance of Handel's Messiah.

Then on December 9, Durgin Hall will resound with the heroic, shining sounds of Solid Brass, ten orchestral brass players plus percussionist.

Finally on December 15, the Boston Camerata will perform "Midnight Mass on French Christmas Carols," a radiant program of Baroque music based on French Christmas carol melodies.

The first performance of the new year will be "The Lunatic, the Lover, and the Poet," on January 25. Tony award-winning actor Brian Bedford will interpret some of Shakespeare's best-known characters from the cynical King Lear to the bumbling Bottom in Midsummer Night's Dream to the conniving hunchbacked Richard III.

The Center will celebrate Black Heritage Month with two events. First, on February 1, the Northeast Big Band will pay tribute to Duke Ellington in a program of music spanning the early Ellington years all the way up to some of his last compositions written for jazz orchestra.

And on February 9, Sandra Reeves-Philips, award-winning performer on Broadway, television, and in film, will celebrate the "Late Great Ladies of Blues and Jazz," those legendary musical heroines Ma Rainey, Bessie Smith, Josephine Baker, Dinah Washington, Billie Holiday, and Ethel Waters. The All-Star Jazz Band will play back-up in this dynamite show.

There will be an evening of glorious chamber music on February 15, when Musici de Montreal, a 15-member ensemble from Canada, will join forces with the brilliant pianist Anton Kuerti.

On February 22, the Kodo Drummers of Japan will perform on instruments ranging from tiny clackers to the 900-pound O-daiko drum. Exciting and exotic, Kodo's performances are sold out everywhere!

Les Ballets Jazz de Montreal will sweep into town on March 1. Using music as diverse as Janis Joplin, Jelly Roll Morton, and Stan Kenton, these 12 glamorous dancers fuse jazz and ballet into a blizzard of soaring jetes, flashy lifts, and daring drops and dips.

Quartet-in-residence at Dartmouth College, the Franciscan Quartet and acclaimed pianist Peter Orth will perform a program of chamber masterpieces on March 3.

On March 9, the Asolo Theatre will bring us "Master Harold" . . . and the Boys.

Returning to the series, the Worcester Chorus and Orchestra will perform Brahms' epic masterpiece, the German Requiem on March 23.

Then on April 5, it's music by Scott Joplin, Eubie Blake, and Jelly Roll Morton—energetic, virtuosic ragtime with the New England Ragtime Ensemble, 16 New England Conservatory grads under the direction of composer/conductor Gunther Schuller.

Unique Prints at Boston Museum of Fine Arts

Ninety unconventional images by seventy-four contemporary painters, sculptors, and printmakers document the surge of interest in the unique print in the last decade in The Unique Print: 70s into 90s, a loan exhibition organized by the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston. The Unique Print will open in the Lois and Michael Torf Gallery on September 15 and remain on view through December 16, 1990.

According to Clifford S. Ackley, Curator of Prints, Drawings and Photographs at the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston, "Due to the multiple nature of printmaking, 'the unique print' would seem to be a contradiction in terms. During the late twentieth century, however, the traditional boundaries between art media have been systematically broken down. Hybrid combinations of media are a familiar and stimulating aspect of international contemporary art."

Ackley continues, "The current lively interest in the unique print should not come as a surprise: in certain instances each impression is individually inked in a variant fashion, in others each is individually reworked by hand after printing or, in the case of that prototypical unique print, the monotype, there is no fixed image on the printing surface and only one strong impression. The word monotype means, literally, 'one print.' These unique prints often have the surface qualities, directness, and spontaneity of paintings and drawings."

The unique prints of the late 70s, 80s, and early 90s are to some degree a reaction against the smooth perfection and uniformity of the prints issued in editions during the great Print Boom of the 60s. These prints also represent the startling diversity of styles and imagery that characterize contemporary art of the present moment: "New Expressionist" interpretations of the human figure by such artists as German painter Georg Baselitz or American painter Susan Rothenbert co-exist with geometric abstracts by the Russian emigre printmaker working in England, Oleg Kudryashov, or those by American sculptor Joel Shapiro. Lyrical or moody and disturbing worlds of private allegory are evoked in works by Mary Frank, Sam Messer, David Humphrey, Gustav Luge, Hermann Nitsch and Nathan Oliveira. Scale and format as well as imagery are widely divergent: Nancy Spero's and Kiki Smith's large unique printed and collaged pieces suggest scrolls or tapestries rather than traditional prints. An illustrated catalogue with introductory essay and complete checklist will be available for sale in the Museum Shop.

The Unique Print: 70s into 90s, organized by the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston, includes numerous loans from private collections, artists, dealers, publishers and print workshops, as well as a nucleus of works from the Museum collection. The exhibition is supported in part by the Shelly and Michael Kassen Fund.

Heck's Bells, Batman!

There will be a special chiming of the bells at St. Anne's Church in Lowell on Sunday, September 9 from 1:30 to 1:50 pm. The bells will be rung in a variety of tunes by bell ringer Jim McGowan. Following the chiming, the public is invited to the Whistler House Museum of Art for a free concert by violinist Arturo Delmoni. Mr. Delmoni will perform a program of music in memorance of the famed 19th century violinist Ole Bull who gave several concerts in Lowell. The proceeds of Mr. Bull's "Chime of Bells" concert of 1857 were used for the purchase of the 783 pound B-flat bell of the Chime for St. Anne's Church. The "Ole Bull Bell" is one of eleven bells of St. Anne's that will be heard on September 9.

Two uninhibited, fearless musical mavericks will get together for a performance on April 19. Carter Brey, cello, and Christopher O'Riley, piano, will prove chamber music is anything but dull and staid.

The final event of the Performing Arts Series will be a glittering, colorful montage of costumes, folk music, astounding athletic prowess and vaudevillian humor. It's fun for the whole family when the Soviet Acrobatic Revue comes to Lowell on April 24.

The chiming of the bells is presented by the Lowell Bell Committee, an organization formed at the instigation of Congressman Chester Atkins and former Senator Paul Tsongas to draw attention to the historical importance of bells in Lowell. In Lowell, bells were used not only to call people to worship, but for one of the first times in the country's history, they were also used to call people to work. Members of the Bell Committee are engaged in locating and documenting the bells of Lowell. In conjunction with the Bell Committee, the New England Folklife Center is conducting research on the folklore of bells—bell collectors and bell foundries and their workers. Anyone with relevant information should call Julie Mofford at the Lowell Historic Preservation Commission, (508) 458-7653.

The Ole Bull concert is sponsored by the Center for the Arts at the University of Lowell and is funded by a cultural grant from the Lowell Historic Preservation Commission, U.S. Department of the Interior.

St. Anne's Church is located at the corner of Kirk and Merrimack Streets in downtown Lowell. The Whistler House Museum of Art is located nearby at 243 Worthen Street.

For more information, call the Center for the Arts at (508) 934-4444.

Student Health Service

Welcome back to the University of Lowell. The staff at the Student Health Service hopes you had a restful and pleasant summer and that you will have a healthy and productive semester. The following information is offered as a reminder of the health service requirements and services available here on campus.

Who is eligible for service?

all full time undergraduate and graduate students with a completed health form on file at the Student Health Service.

Are there any health service requirements?

Yes. All students, as part of the condition of admission, are required to have on file a complete up-to-date medical history and physical exam form, evidence of a recent Mantoux test, and proof of completed up-to-date immunizations.

What immunizations are required?

The college immunization law, mandated since 1986, requires all full time students born after 1957 and all full or part time students in health sciences to provide a medical certificate of immunization against measles, mumps, rubella, tetanus and diphtheria. The month and year must be given.

The measles must have been administered after 1968 and after the age of one (preferably after the age of 15 months). A second dose administered after 1980 is also required.

The rubella vaccine must have been administered after one year of age. History of disease must be verified with a positive titer.

Proof of a mumps vaccination or physician diagnosed disease must be given.

The Tetanus injection must be within the past ten years.

What is the Mantoux Test?

The Mantoux test is a screening test for tuberculosis. This test is not an immunization, rather it is a test to determine if the individual has been exposed to tuberculosis. (Please note: the Time is not accepted.)

What is the result of failing to file required health forms?

Failure to file health forms can interrupt your care and education. The college immunization law requires that students file their immunization records with the school or be suspended until the requirement is completed. Failure to file health records will also make a student ineligible to use the Health Services except for first aid.

Where is the Student Health Service located?

The Student Health Service is located in the white house on 30 Standish Street, behind the North campus library.

What are the hours of service?

The Health Service is open Monday through Friday

Help create a safer college experience for all students prevent sexual harassment and date rape

Sexism in campus social life including sexual harassment and date rape are commonplace on college campuses and have become worse, according to a national study recently released by the Carnegie Foundation entitled "Campus Life: In Search of Community". Here at the University of Lowell, we have begun to address these serious concerns which affect the quality of campus life through several avenues. Last April, the newly formed Social Issues Committee of University Life coordinated, along with many student organizations, a Day of Awareness and Dialogue on Preventing Sexual Harassment and Sexual Assault. The Rape Crisis Services of Lowell and the Counseling and Career Development Center are sources of information and assistance to you as well as the Affirmative Action Office. The Social Issues Committee, in a spirit of concern and prevention offers to you as incoming students an invitation to help make our campus experience a safe one for all and a caring, respecting community. We also offer the following guidelines for prevention. For men: guidelines for change.

1. Never force a woman to have sex.

2. Don't pressure a woman to have sex.

3. Stay sober.

4. Don't buy the myth that a drunk woman "deserves" to be raped.

5. Do not "join in" if a friend invites you to participate in sexual behavior.

6. Do not confuse "scoring" with having a successful social encounter.

7. Don't assume that you know what a woman wants and vice versa.

8. "No" means "no".

9. Speak up if you feel

Financial Aid/Accounts Receivable

Financial Aid Verification Paperwork

There are still students who have not provided required verification documents to the Financial Aid Office. Parent and student tax returns and verification worksheets are required from all students applying for financial assistance. In accordance with federal regulations, any student who does not comply with the verification process must be denied Financial Aid.

Perkins Loan Promissory Notes

If you have accepted a Perkins Loan please come to the Financial Aid Office after the first day of classes, to sign your promissory note.

Any student who has accepted a Perkins Loan and is no longer interested in borrowing is asked to notify the Financial Aid Office so that these funds can be made available to other qualified students.

Board of Regents General Scholarships

Students need to be aware of the following process:

1. The student must have IRS tax forms and verification worksheets submitted to the Financial Aid Office.

2. Students must return their scholarship acceptance letter to the Board of Regents.

3. The Board of Regents supplies the University Financial Aid Office with a Certification Roster which must be verified by Financial Aid.

4. Upon receipt of the verified Certification Roster from the Financial Aid Office the B.O.R. will issue a Payment Roster only for students who have been verified.

5. The Treasurer of the Commonwealth of Mass. will forward the funds to the University (usually in 2-3 weeks).

6. The funds are then credited to the individual student accounts. Only after items 1 through 5 are completed will the student's account reflect his/her Actual Board of Regents General scholarship that would permit student refunds for potential credit balances.

Stafford Loans (GSL- formerly Guaranteed Student Loan)

Banks and lenders mail Stafford Loan checks directly to the Business Office payable to the University and the student. the Business Office will notify the student when his/her check arrives from their lending institution. (Please watch your University mail box). Prior to coming to the Business Office and endorsing the Stafford Loan Check students are required to attend an entrance interview with Financial Aid. Only after the interview are they able to endorse the check in the Business Office. Once the check is endorsed, the loan is applied to their Tuition/Fee account or a refund check is issued. Any loan check which is unsigned by a student, after 120 days, must be returned to the Bank.

Refund Checks
All students who have completed the above conditions and their financial aid paperwork i.e. FAF, 1040's, financial aid transcripts, signed promissory notes, etc. and signed and returned their Financial Aid Notification Letter will receive refund checks for any credit due in accordance with the following schedule:

Paperwork Completed By Refund Check Issued:

Sept. 21, Oct. 12: Sept. 28, Oct. 19; Oct. 5, Oct. 26.

MORE POWER TO YOU!

Casio's fx-7000G Graphic Calculator gives math students a calculated advantage!

Casio's fx-7000G Graphic Calculator has the power to expand your mathematical capabilities. Its ability to solve problems numerically as well as graphically means you get the big picture fast. Packed with hundreds of features and functions, the fx-7000G is supported by college texts written especially for use with graphic calculators. And because the fx-7000G makes learning easier than ever before, many professors are now designing their courses around these powerful calculators.

The power to perform advanced calculations.

Over 193 built-in functions are available with the fx-7000G — including trigonometric, hyperbolic, logarithmic and exponential to name a few. These capabilities allow you to tackle subjects like math, statistics, science and physics with speed and accuracy. And if there's any question about the results, there's an instant replay button that allows you to re-examine your problems immediately.

The power to plot your curves.

The fx-7000G's large, 16 character x 8 line, alphanumeric display means complex calculations and solutions can be viewed exactly as you would have written them on paper or read them from a text. Detailed graphs can be plotted out at the touch of a few buttons. And there's even an overwrite feature that allows multiple functions to be graphed together so graphic solutions can be analyzed for comparison.

Welcome Back!

Patricia Janice Editor-in-Chief

Another summer come and gone. It seems that they go by faster each year. Must be old age slowly creeping in....

Anyway, I want to welcome everyone back for another fun-filled semester of ULowellness, where there's never a dull moment. Unfortunately, some of you never really got to leave for the summer. I sympathize with you.

Now, is the time when you say to yourself, "Ok, this is definitely the year when I get 4.0's." Sure. I've heard that one before. Why can't that back-to-school-vigor stay for just a little longer? Think how much easier it would be to write that 82 page paper, or read 5 chapters on the culture of Zimbabwe, or read 100 pages of a life science textbook to find out exactly what happens when you swallow a globule of food. Oh well, it's good while it lasts.

The hardest part of going back to school is trying to fall into "the routine." You have to figure out exactly how many times you can hit your snooze button to gain as many of those precious extra minutes of sleep without being late for class (or missing it entirely). Unfortunately, that can only be solved through trial and error. Then, you have to try different in-between-class hang-outs. Maybe you're a cafe person, or perhaps the library suits you a little more, or you could be daring and hang out (I mean work) at the SIC; then again, why not veg out in front of the big-screen TV in the South SIC (most people do, so don't despair).

Well, whatever you choose, enjoy it.

Be good to those freshman who wander helplessly in search of their classes.

Well, I might as well plug The Connector now. For those of you who have even the remotest interest in the fast-paced life of a newspaper celebrity... ok, the hectic life of an over-worked and under-appreciated newspaper slave, join us! It's heaps o' unbridled fun! Hope to see you. We meet every monday night at 6:00 in Fox 426.

Note that quote:

"All men pretend the Licentiousness of the press to be a publick Grievance, but it is much easier to say it is so, than to prove it, or prescribe a proper Remedy; nor is it the easiest grievance to cure."

-Daniel Defoe

TWA/flying more affordable for students

Students who need to travel during the upcoming school year will find the trip less expensive when they join TWA's student discount program.

The TWA Getaway Student Discount Card can be purchased for $15 for a one year membership and $25 for two years. This card entitles students to a 10 percent discount off any published fare, including TWA's deeply discounted domestic and international economy fares.

Those interested in joining the program must be a full time high school or college student between the ages of 16 and 26.

In addition, students who enroll automatically will be members in TWA's Frequent Flight Bonus Program and have 3,000 miles awarded to them if they fly TWA within 90 days of joining.

Students interested in enrolling should visit a travel agent or write to TWA Getaway Student Discount Program, P.O. Box 6000, Plymouth Meeting, PA 19462.

Letters to the Editor:

Learning how to study the most important lesson of all

For all those students who wish they could retain what they learned in class until final exams... they can. Not by working harder but by working smarter.

It's a matter of using the learning process and the laws of forgetting to our advantage. Just knowing what happens and why, can help students do things to retain the information received in class for an indefinite time, certainly long enough to pass their exams.

For instance, we know that, for the student, the average span of concentration on a single subject is 50 minutes (that's why most classes are scheduled for 50 minutes).

The continuous influx of new material speeds up forgetting, so we can expect, after several hours of concentration on new material, we'll forget most of the material we learned during the first hours. Study habits should be scheduled with that in mind.

We know that most forgetting occurs immediately after learning. On the other hand, if steps are taken to remember something the day after it has been learned chances are it will stick with us.

We know that cramming is re-learning. Realizing this, the student can prepare a more productive cram session.

Reviews, timing the reviews to offset the curve of forgetting, consolidation of material - these are some of the other keys in the process used to impress the mind with material learned and needed to be retain.

If done properly, the mind will retain the material... in some cases indefinitely. Knowledge of this process can serve well in school and will be a lifelong asset in other areas.

A report published by a college studies unit details these and other factors we know about learning and forgetting.

It is a step-by-step plan designed to help students retain classwork and pass their exams. A copy of the complete report in a handy student format may be obtained by writing: Student Services Group, P.O. Box 454, Ashland, MA, 01721. Enclose a self-addressed stamped (long) envelope and $2 to cover the cost.

Attention: Seniors

Who have not graduated, and should have, because you have not completed your physical education requirement

In order for you to be able to complete your requirement, you now must register through the Continuing Education office, using the following procedure:

1. Go to the Continuing Education office (basement of Cumnock) and pick up a "Directed Study" form.

2. Make an appointment to see Prof. Chamberlain, Physical Education, BEFORE the last day of add/drop. . . Sept. 17.

a. Check the office hours on the bulletin board outside her office: Mahoney B-2.

b. Do not wait until the last day.

3. Registration for this

Independent Activity course are from now until the end of add/drop.

4. After you see Prof. Chamberlain and receive permission for Independent Activity and sign a contract, see your college dean for his/her signature on the Directed Study form. Then return with the completed, signed Directed Study form to the Continuing Education office. Bring your checkbook. Pay for the course. Turn in the form. (If you do not do this, you are not officially registered and will not appear on the gradesheet and cannot/will not be graded.)

5. During your discussion with Prof. Chamberlain, you will talk about what activity you will be doing independently, outside the University, in order to complete your requirement.

DO NOT expect to register after the add/drop period. Plan ahead NOW. Check the office hours. Questions? See Prof. Chamberlain or leave a message on her telephone answering machine with a DAYTIME number where you can be reached. Please include the appropriate area code. Call (508) 934-4534.

Attention All Students

The deadline is September 18, 1990.

You will be charged $217.00 for the Student Health Insurance unless you have completed a petition for waiver of the Student Accident/Health Insurance Plan. All waivers must be submitted to the Business Office by September 18th 1990 in order to waive the health insurance charge. Waivers will not be accepted after September 18th.

Waivers are available at the University Life Office, in Cumnock Hall, North Campus or the the Business Office, Dugan Hall, South Campus.

Neighborhood Relations For Student Renters

When you rent you enter not only into a legal contract with the landlord, but also into a social contract with your neighbors. As the school year begins and everyone is excited about showing off their new apartment and catching up with what old friends have been doing during the summer and planning that first party of the new school year, give some thought to your neighbors.

Let your neighbors know about the party and encourage them to contact you first if they have some concerns during the party.

Sponsor "invitee" parties only. This way you control the number of people attending and know who is attending.

Encourage your guests to drink responsibly - don't hesitate to shut someone off who you feel has had too much to drink.

Encourage your guests to respect you and your neighbor's property i.e. refrain from urinating on lawns, leaving trash around, being noisy.

Don't be afraid to notify the police if individuals at your party get out of hand, i.e. if they get violent towards property of others, are in need of assistance medically, are endangering themselves, are not cooperating with you and the expectations you've established.

Stop your party at a reasonable hour. Between 11 p.m. and 12 midnight are reasonable times depending on your neighborhood (little children, senior citizens?) and the day of the week. A little consideration goes a long way. Be aware of local ordinances that may require no noise after a certain hour.

No open containers of alcoholic beverages are permitted on public streets or sidewalks in Lowell. Remember you are responsible for your guest's behavior.

Parking is a difficult problem throughout Lowell. If street parking is necessary, do not take up two spaces. Do not block driveways or park across sidewalks, it is illegal and inconsiderate of the elderly and children. Obey posted parking signs or you will be ticketed or towed.

It is not illegal to refuse to house students because they are students. Issues such of race, creed, religion and children are protected. Therefore, in order to maintain good relations with your new neighborhood and landlord you, as the new tenant, must exhibit the same concern and consideration that you would wish others to bestow on you.

The Commuter Association of the University of Lowell is working hard to improve these relations with the community and are in need of your assistance in the concerns listed above. If you encounter problems with leases, landlords or other issues related to housing feel free to seek assistance from the Commuter Association or the Office of Student Activities and Commuter Services.

Attention Commuters! Parking Notices!

At the last meeting of the Pawtucketville Citizens Council's subcommittee for Neighborhood and University Relations it was announced that the new Gershom Avenue Parking lot is now all metered with a two hour maximum. These regulations also apply to the metered parking on University Avenue. New meter maids have been hired to enforce these regulations.

If you leave your car in the lot or on the street past the two hour limit, you will continue to receive a new ticket for each additional two hour block your car is in that spot.

The Gershom Avenue lot is a general parking lot for all citizens between the hours of 7 a.m. and 10 p.m. However from 10 p.m. and 7 a.m., it is exclusively for the use of the residents of Pawtucketville, with Pawtucketville parking stickers. Violators will be towed.

Please keep these issues in mind when parking your car for classes. Park in one of the larger lots like the Research Center and use the shuttle bus services offered by the University. Sign up for car pooling at the Office of Student Activities and Commuter Services.

If you do park your car on the street, please be considerate of the local residents and respect their property and families. There are a number of streets with restricted parking near the University, especially North campus. For more information on that watch this space or come to either the Commuter Association Office, McGauvran 340, or the Office of Student Activities and Commuter Services, McGauvran 224, for a complete copy of the City Ordinance regarding parking in the Pawtucketville area.

Juniors and Seniors

Are you looking for a challenging practicum . . . one which will contribute to your own career development as well as to others at the University of Lowell.

Consider an internship as a career development peer counselor. We need you to staff the Career Development Resource Center which is located in the Student Union Building on the South Campus.

We are looking for motivated students who are interested in working with people. You will learn to guide students through the use of Discover II, a computerized career information system, and assist students in researching careers through printed resources.

To find out more, please stop by the Counseling and Career Development Center, McGauvran Student Union, South Campus to speak to Lanett Scott or call 934-4331 to make an appointment for the interview.

Clubs

Attention Student Clubs

It is important that all clubs remember to register with the Office of Student Activities and Commuter Services and the Student Government Association during the first three weeks of the semester. Registration reactivates your club's status for the coming year and allows you the opportunity to reserve University facilities, to apply for a budget form the Student Government Association and to have a club office, if space is available.

Registration forms are available in either the Office of Student Activities and Commuter Services, Rm. 224 McGauvran or the Student Government Association, Fox 412 and must be returned, completely filled out by September 21, 1990.

Join the new Math Club

All those interested in joining U. Lowell's chapter of the Mathematical Association of America, please send your name and box number to Rhonda, Box 1538, or bring it by the Math office in Olsen 219. We are in the process of becoming a club this semester. Your ideas are certainly welcomed. There will be an informational meeting within the next few weeks. See you there!

Marching Band has openings

The University of Lowell Marching Band forms an integral part of the musical and athletic aspects of campus life, drawing members from virtually every department in the university. Under the direction of Dan Lutz, the Marching Chiefs perform at competitions, parades and football halftime shows.

Each year new musical selections are drawn from the classics jazz, rock and popular idioms, with original drills for the band. The Color Guard section, also open to all students in the university, completes the visual presentation of the band's program.

If you are interested in joining the Marching Band, our first rehearsal is Wednesday, September 4, 1990 at 5:30 p.m. in Durgin Concert Hall. There are openings in all areas: brass, woodwind, percussion and colorguard. If you are interested but cannot attend this rehearsal, please see the Director in Durgin 321 before Friday, September 13! Make new friends, travel, earn university credit, and a gym waiver! Become a part of "The Class of New England!"

Irish Club up and coming!

I wish to address the members of the student body of the University of Lowell, who are of Irish background or interested in the Irish. I have been very interested in my Irish roots and have done much independent readings on Irish politics, literature, mythology, and genealogy. I have as well, taken some courses at U-Mass, Amherst and here at ULowell. I have also written on my family history immigrating to the Grove section of Lowell, from Co.'s Kerry and Limerick. It was published in the Lowell Sunday Sun, Lifestyle Memories column, April 17th, 1988, entitled: The Four Hundred: the Irish From The Grove. (The Connector is welcome to reprint it. If they wish.)

I still have an appetite for more and seek students who have the same interests and explore the possibility of having an Irish club at ULowell. There is a strong interest in the Irish language and culture at Middlesex Community College, here in Lowell. Prof. Concan-non teaches a non-credit course there. She invited me to sit in on her class, which I haven't had the time to this semester, unfortunately. I will make it a point next semester.

She told me that she is qualified to teach on a credit level and would be interested in doing so, if there was enough interest. Dean Derry told me that the University would certainly consider offering it as a course fulfilling the language requirement if there was enough serious interest. (It is a difficult language to learn. There is also a funding problem due to the current budget situation. Private grants are a possibility to be explored).

I would be interested in hearing from any students who would like to explore these possibilities. I can say that my life has been greatly enriched in depth by exploring my Irish heritage. If at the very least, I would love to share it with anyone interested.

Pre-Law Society

On Monday, April 23rd, Mr. Peter Storandt, the Director of Admissions at Suffolk University School of Law came to speak to us. One thing that he likes most about Suffolk, is its down-to-earth attitude. He said to stop by sometime if we are ever in Boston, and someone will be eager to answer any questions you may have.

Like many of our previous speakers, he told us to take as many courses in writing and analytical thought as possible. Also, any class in which you have to do a presentation will help build your speaking skills. Writing and presentation skills are two very large assets for the field of law.

Suffolk is one of the best law schools in Boston. They put alot of emphasis on the personal statement aspect of your application, although you still need very good grades to be considered. Over the last few years they have begun to recruit nationally to get a more broad spectrum of students in the school. They have a good placement office which is linked with the rest of the law schools in Massachusetts to make it easier to find work for graduating students.

Mr. Storandt reminded us that the first year of law school is not easy. But, if you stick your nose to the grindstone, and get a high GPA, it will make it that much easier in the last 2 years. You should take your LSAT in the summer between your junior and senior years. The LSAT is something that you should take a prep course for if at all possible.

Applying to law school is not like applying to college. It is a longer, more complicated process. The more help you can get, the better off you may be.

A message from the S.G.A. President

Now that our summer break is over, I would like to take a few minutes to welcome you all back and to update you on what the Student Government Association has been up to all summer.

First, I would like to extend a special welcome to the Class of 1994 and all of the new transfer students. We hope you all enjoy the University of Lowell and that you get involved at ULowell.

As you all know, the state budget situation remains a major problem for the University. Last spring, the Board of Regents did vote to raise tuition at ULowell by $415.00 per year. We did support that increase since it was the only way to ensure we could protect all programs at the University. Many schools that did not receive similar increases have been forced to make faculty and/or program cuts.

In addition to the tuition increase, the Student Government Association did ask the Board of trustees to institute a $60.00/year Student Service Fee. This fee was instituted so that we could ensure that services to students continued to improve. We felt that if students were going to pay more in tuition, they should receive improved services. This fee will raise approximately $450,000 which will be controlled jointly by the S.G.A. Executive Board and the Associate Vice President of University Life. A large portion of this fund has already begun to be spent. We have hired an Assistant Director of Student Activities to help with club growth and commuter programming.

We have also purchased new weight machines and stair masters equipment which will be available for use by all students and will be located at the Costello Gym. Five thousand dollars has been spent to improve night security on campus. This includes more lighting on both campuses and more emergency call boxes. Most importantly, approximately $47,000 has been appropriated to provide jobs for students in the S.I.C.'s, Recreational sports and Residence Halls. We felt these jobs were extremely important to ensure students could earn extra income right on campus. We will be continuing to spend these funds on areas of student service which need improvement.

this year promises to be one full of new and exciting programs. The Activities Commission, under the guidance of the new Director, Nancy Svizzero, has already begun planning activities for September and October. Homecoming '90 will be held October 5 & 6, and should be an exciting weekend at ULowell. The Chiefs will be playing under the lights at Cawley Stadium as night football returns to ULowell. The Activities Commission is planning a series of events surrounding the football game to ensure a great weekend.

In closing, I would like to encourage any students interested in Student Government or the Activities Commission to take the initiative and run for a position in the upcoming fall elections. We need your help and suggestions, so get involved.

Tom Winston
S.G.A. President

Homecoming King and Queen - 1990 Attention All Clubs and Organizations:

Nomination papers for Homecoming King and Queen 1990 will be available on September 20, 1990. Each club or organization is able to nominate one person to be a candidate for Homecoming King and Queen.

Forms will be available in both the North and South Student Information Centers and the S.G.A. Office in Fox 411.

The deadline for all nomination papers is 12:00 Noon, 9/27/90. All nominations must be turned in to the S.G.A. Office in Fox 411.

Student Government sponsored elections will be held on Wednesday, October 3, 1990.

The King, Queen and their respective courts will be honored at this year's Homecoming game.

Career Corner

2nd Annual College of Management Science Career and Job Fair

The 2nd Annual CMS Career and Job Fair has been scheduled for October 23, 1990 in Cumnock Hall from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. for College of Management Science students. Last year's Job Fair was quite a success with over 30 companies and 750 students participating in the event. This past summer the College of Management Science has been hard at work contacting companies and inviting them to ULowell to recruit.

Job Fairs have become very popular with recruiters in recent years. At a job fair the job seeker can meet face to face with the recruiter and in many cases be scheduled for a formal interview at a later date. In basic terms a job fair is like a recruitment supermarket. The employers are the products on the shelf and the job seekers are the consumers. Job seekers get an opportunity to wander through the event and take a look at the companies, ask questions and approach the companies they are interested in.

Although students do have the opportunity to meet with prospective employers and possibly get interviews, this is not the sole purpose of a Career Fair and Job Fair. Student should not expect to get job offers at the fair or as a result of the fair. We would certainly like that to happen, but realistically, if there are 750 people looking for jobs and 30 positions available it stands to reason that everyone will not get a job.

Students should view the Career and Job Fair as an opportunity to meet with 30-35 companies at one location, to ask questions about the various jobs and types of responsibilities required in their field, and to get a sense of the types of questions that interviewers ask.

Some of the companies attending this year's job fair will be: The Boston Company, Fidelity Investments, John Hancock, Liberty Mutual, M/A-COM, MCI Telecommunications Inc. and Vitale Caturano and Co. P.C. Companies returning to ULowell will include: Brooks Drug, CVS, Grant Thornton, KPMG Peat Marwick, Roadway Package Systems and United Parcel Service. This year's job fair should be even more popular due to the current economic climate. Sign up as soon as possible in the MBA Office (Pasteur Hall Room 305A immediately to the left of the Dean's Office). Also watch the bulletin board outside the MBA Office for updated lists of companies attending the fair. See you October 23rd.

Government and Public Service Careers

Juniors interested in a career in government or related public service are invited to apply for a three-year scholarship sponsored by the Harry S Truman Memorial Scholarship Trust Fund. Selected candidates are awarded a maximum of $8,000-$10,000 per year in their senior year and for two years of graduate study. Each scholarship will cover eligible graduate or professional school expenses in the following categories:

tuition, fees, books and room and board.

The University of Lowell can nominate three students for this competition. All majors are eligible, but all applicants must be entering their senior year in the 1991-1992 academic year, and they must have at least a "B" average and be a United States citizen. They also should be able to demonstrate an interest in a career in public service, and an active involvement in public service activities such as those associated with government agencies, community groups, or political campaigns. Deadline for applications is October 29, 1990.

Please contact the university's Truman Scholarship Representative, Professor Jeffrey S. Handler, Department of Political Science, South Campus, Coburn 204, or call extension 4255.

On-Line Add/Drop/Available On Both Campuses

As we did last year, the Registrar's Office will have two locations at which you may have your Add/Drop transactions processed on-line. The North campus location will be in Southwick Hall room 210 which is located down the hall from the Registrar's Office. The South campus location will be on the third floor of the O'Leary library in an area outside the audio/visual rooms (329 and 331). This area may be accessed through the corridor which connects the third floor of the student union building with the third floor of the O'Leary library.

The Add/Drops will be processed at these locations from 8:45am to 4:30pm daily from Tuesday Sept. 4 until Monday Sept. 17.

The on-line entry of Add/Drops allows us to: 1. immediately process the Add/Drop transaction; 2. let you know if there are any problems; and 3. give you a printout of your updated schedule.

Important - Please Note: After your Add/Drop transaction has been processed: 1. Distribute all copies of the Add/Drop form to the designated parties. 2. Make sure you save your copy of the Add/Drop form.

10. Communicate with women.

11. Communicate with other men.

Taken from: I Never Called it Rape by Robin Warshaw, Harper & Row, 1988.

How to reduce your risks of date rape.

1. You have the right to set sexual limits and to communicate those limits. Know and communicate your limits and talk to your partner about what you want.

2. Be assertive. When you set limits, but an ignores you, act immediately, tell him what you object to, make a scene if you have to and yell, attract help, get away.

3. Stay sober. Drink in moderation, reaction to illegal drugs may vary each time.

4. Find out about a new date.

Doubledate with friends, talk over phone for a date before hand, don't leave a party or bar with a man you don't know well and ask around to find out about your date.

5. Remain in control. Pay for part of date, always have someone you can call to give you a ride, take your own car or enough money for a taxi and don't accept rides from man you just met.

6. Take care of yourself. Take a self-defense class before you need it.

7. Trust your feelings. Believe your inner warnings.

8. Students should take special precautions. Dangerous time is between entering freshman year and first holiday break because women are more insecure, alone.

Taken from: I Never Called it Rape by Robin Warshaw, Harper & Row, 1988.

Medical Hazards with Alcohol

Psychological Aspects
- Alcohol is a mind altering drug, used for that effect. Oral craving or thwarted dependency needs leading to anger and then depression represent the general pattern of events leading to alcohol dependency.

Physiological Aspects
- Chronic alcohol intoxication leads to problems with the following parts of the body:

Head: Dilated blood vessels of the face, puffy eyes.

Brain: Degeneration of the cerebellum, impaired judgement, lowered inhibitions, loss of self control, impaired ability to write and speak impaired motor skills, loss of memory, dulling of attentiveness, neuritis, and delirium tremors.

Blood: Anemia, bleeding, leukopenia (reducing the body's ability to fight off infections, low blood sugar, elevated cholesterol.

Gastrointestinal Tract: Malnutrition gastritis, ulcers, cancer of the esophagus, hepatitis, pancreatitis.

Heart: Arrhythmias, hypertension, decrease contractability of the heart muscle.

Chest: Bronchitis, chronic obstructive pulmonary disease, enlargement of mammary glands in men.

Impotency and birth defects have also been attributed to alcohol abuse.

Attention Class of 1994

The Student Government Association (S.G.A.) will sponsor Fall Elections on Wednesday, October 3, 1990. The following positions are open within your class: Class President, Class Vice President, Class Secretary, Class Treasurer, seven (7) Senator positions, three (3) Activities Commission positions and one Bookstore Associate.

If you are interested in any of these positions - nominations open on September 20th. Stop by the Student Information Center on your campus or drop by the S.G.A. Office in Fox Hall.

Student Health

from 8:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Students must have an appointment to see the physician or nurse practitioner. Walk-In service is available with the RN throughout the day and with the nurse practitioners from 8:00 a.m. to 9:00 a.m. and from 2:00 p.m. to 3:30 p.m.*

*(There is no Walk-In service on Wednesday afternoons. The nurse may also require a student to return for a scheduled appointment if deemed appropriate.)

Who provides health care?

The Health Service is staffed full time by the director, Fr. Peterson, a nurse practitioner; Mrs. Leary, a registered nurse; and Mrs. Quattrocchi, a nurse practitioner available 28 hours per week. A physician is available, on a limited basis, by appointment only.

Where do students go for medical care when the Health Service is closed?

If you do not have an emergency but are ill, you must decide if the condition can wait until the Health Service opens or go to one of the Walk-In clinics located in Lowell.

Emergency treatment is available at: St. Joseph's Hospital, 220 Pawtucket St. (453-1761); St. John's Hospital, Hospital Drive (458-1411); Lowell General Hospital, 295 Varum Avenue (937-6000). In an emergency call Security at 2911. Be prepared to give your name, location, telephone number, nature of injury or illness, and number of people involved. EMTs will be directed to your aid.

What type of services are provided at the Student Health Service?

Services include: allergy injections (by appointment, between 1:00 p.m. and 2:00 p.m. on Wednesdays); blood pressure monitoring; mantoux TB testing; treatment of episodic illnesses such as colds, sore throats, mono, sprains, vaginitis, urinary tract infections etc.; Women's health clinic (by appointment only); Laboratory work (some are done on site, some are sent to an outside lab).

What is the fee for care?

there is no Student Health Fee; however, there is a slight fee charged to cover the cost of lab services and medications provided at the health services. The student is also financially responsible for all diagnostic tests, prescriptions, or medical services received off campus.

Does the Student Health Service make referrals?

Yes, if the Health Service is unable to provide the necessary care, referrals will be made to health providers within the community. In such referrals, the student assumes responsibility for all medical costs incurred.

Does the University offer health insurance?

Yes. All students are covered by an accident fee. Health insurance is mandatory, unless waived by providing proof of equal or better coverage. Alan Lyon is available at the Business Office, 934-3583 to answer any questions you may have about insurance. Claim forms are available at the Student Health Service, the Business Office or at Somers Kitchen and Essler Insurance Agency, 25 North St., Salem, MA 01970.

If you waived the school insurance and belong to an HMO, check to see if it will cover lab tests and prescriptions ordered by the Health Service. Most will not, and the student, if unable to go to the HMO for care, must pay out of pocket.

Does the Student Health Service provide medical excuses?

We believe it is our responsibility to treat and advise students on measures to best care for their health. As adults, it is then the responsibility of the student to make what ever arrangements are necessary with the professor. If, for medical reasons, a student is advised to remain out of classes for a week or more, the University Life office will be notified. That office will in turn notify the appropriate professors.

For an appointment call 934-4991.

1990 Football captains Bob Cote, Ron Anderson and Paul Haley.

FOOTBALL PREVIEW

Head Coach Dennis Scannell has earned the respect of all his peers and the hearts of all the Chiefs' fans. Since entering the New England Football Conference in 1987 he has compiled an amazing 21-6 record and has improved his output each year. The Chiefs went through the 1988 season with an 8-1 mark. Last year they finished undefeated before losing the championship game against Bridgewater. This season Scannell plans to field his best team ever.

"This year's team has the potential to be the greatest team in the University of Lowell's history," says Scannell. Many experts agree with him as the USA Today Newspaper's Pre-season polls rank the Chiefs as the 25th best team in the country. Lowell is the only nationally ranked team in New England.

The Chiefs offense is high powered but it is the defense that will once again be the key to success. Captain/Defensive End Bob Cote returns for his forth and final campaign. Cote is as fast as ever and has bulked up over the off-season. Joining him at DE will be senior Jim DiVita and soph. David Medwar. DiVita is a four year starter, but Medwar is an excellent pass rusher and is battling him out for the starting position.

The linebacking core is sturdy. Captain Ron Anderson heads a group of very experienced and talented players including: juniors Jeff Doradi, John Batts and Derek Larson; seniors Scott Boyle and Adam Sigel; sophomores Kysle King, Brian McDonald, Jeff Jordan and Tom Aylward.

Dennis "Primetime" Rich will be joined in the defensive backfield with Bobby Scaccia and a new and improved Don Bartlett. Bartlett will be forever remembered for his game saving interception against Plymouth State last season. Backing them up will be John Encarnacao, John Broderick, David Wingate, Tim Vale and newcomer Mike Batts.

The Defensive Tackles are still up in the air. The only definite starter, Al Troisi, went down with a kneed injury so both positions are open. Senior Darrel Davidow will have to do battle with freshmen Peter Forgione and Ron Goulet and sophomores Keith DeSisto and Jim Sweet.

The Chiefs offense has so many weapons that they should be unstoppable. Junior All-American candidate Tom Lafferty is coming of a knee injury which sidelined him for the last five games of 1989. Lafferty is considered to be the best tight-end in the league if not the best all-around player. Lafferty is 6-4, 250 lbs. and has NFL scouts checking him out. Along with Lafferty is a strong offensive line known as the "HOGS". The 'O' Line is anchored by captain Paul Haley at center. Sophomores Russ Williams and Andy Jowett join senior Neil Roche and freshman Jim Desmarais on the line. The "HOGS" should open up enough room for fullback Brian Gauthier. Gauthier is a powerful, punishing, straight ahead runner who has torn up the league for three years. Gauthier is part of a running back unit that may be the best in the conference. The backs are big, strong and fast (Brian Fleming, Pat Cullen, Eric Pike, Dan Ford, Tom Machado and Ken Pires).

The wide receivers, featuring last seasons rookie-of-the-Year (Tom Bradley) are sure handed and have great speed. Mark LeBeouf, Mark Estee and Eric Sweet have all looked good during pre-season. With the addition of 6-6 David Barry (the former All-League basketball player) the wide outs should be strong.

Once again the quarterback situation will be difficult for Coach Scannell. Sophomore Billy Rizos is having a great camp but Plymouth State transfer student Steve Austin possesses great size and strength which will make Scannell's decision hard. Both QB's are excellent so there is no bad choice.

The kicking game should be as good as ever. Newcomer Tarsi Velantzas seems to be punting the ball with consistency and Dennis Anselmo is one of the league top field goal kickers.

The Chiefs have a great team (35 returning lettermen) and hope to improve on last year's 9-1 record. The season starts with two home games. Saturday night (Sept. 8) the Chiefs take on Fitchburg State College, 7:00pm at Cawley Stadium and Saturday afternoon (Sept. 13) Worcester State visits Cawley.

Volleyball Preview

The University of Lowell Women's Volleyball team is heading for the University of Vermont Tournament this weekend. The Lady Chiefs have just finished triple sessions and are ready for a very successful fall. The first home game is against A.I.C. on Wednesday night at 7:00 pm in Costello Gym.

Marybeth Fleming, Michele Roy and captains Chris Leonard and Sue Martin lead the way for head coach Ann Leonard's team that finished 1989 at 16-20 and took 2nd place in the N.E.C.C. Tournament.

Sara Nicolosi is the 1990 Field Hockey Captain for the University of Lowell Lady Chiefs.

Field Hockey Preview - 1990

Field Hockey coach Beverly Agrella is entering her second year at the University of Lowell and her team looks very promising. She will be returning 8 letterwinners along with a strong crop of freshmen. The field hockey team is one of two programs (the other is Ice Hockey) at the university that currently competes on a division one level. The Lady Chiefs play powerhouse teams such as Syracuse, Dartmouth, Radford and Siena. This season they should be very competitive.

"We'll have a promising year in terms of both offense and defense, if everyone stays healthy," says Agrella.

Captain Sara Nicolosi was last year's leading scorer and is the only senior on this season's team. With ten freshmen the Lady Chiefs are very young. Sophomores Miki Bryan and Ruth Benoit both had excellent freshmen years and should be the stars on the 1990 squad. Bryan was last year's top goal scorer and Benoit was the top goal tender.

Coach Agrella's team is well stocked. At forwards she'll have Jen Jury, Chrissy Poplawski, Colleen O'Connell, Melissa Morse, Ann Marie Maffia along with Bryan. The midfield features Nicolosi, Janine Davey, Jeanne Muise, Sharon Emmett and Jen Carter. Lauren Jolie, Amy Lavina, Raquel Procopio, Lisa Sanchez, and Courtney Foley are the backs. Junior Kathy Bulger is the sweeper and Beniot will be in net.

The Lady Chiefs open the season on Thursday (Sept. 6) against Radford University on South Campus at 3:00 pm. On Wednesday, September 12, Lowell will host Bentley, same time, same place.

Recreational Sports

So what's happening in Recreational Sports this year? A full complement of intramural sports, open recreation opportunities, non-credit activity classes and sports clubs will be available to help occupy your out of class time.

The first intramural sports of the year are Volleyball Triples and Flag Football. Entries open today for both of these activities, and both are offered in Men's, Women's and CoRec divisions. Come by the Recreational Sports Office in Costello Gym before next Wednesday (the 12th) to sign up. Look for Tennis Singles and Two Pitch Softball entries to open next week!

If you come over to Costello to participate informally on your own you will notice several new "toys" to play with and even more projects underway which will enhance the look and usability of our facility. The gym is open from 9:00 am-11:00pm most days, and has a Universal/Nautilus room (boasting new machine weights, treadmill, Air-Dyne bicycles, and Stairmasters), free weight room (with new lighter bars and a complete dumbbell set), racquetball and volleyball areas. Outside there are tennis courts which are lighted until 11:00pm. The Equipment Issue Room has even more equipment to checkout to you (free of charge) with your student ID. The locker rooms have also been remodeled, with a new locker check-out system and free towel service. Please come by to pick up a complete facility schedule and start planning to use the gym for the workout of your choice!

*PLEASE NOTE: The swimming pool will be closed for the first few weeks of school in order to have a new filtration system (and heater!) installed. We apologize for the inconvenience, but as soon as possible the pool will be reopened for your enjoyment.

If you are interested in joining, starting or just learning a little more about any of the various sports clubs, call or come by the office. Currently active clubs include: Alpine, Bowling, Equestrian, Hang Gliding, Karate, Lacrosse, Skiing, Sport Car and Water Polo.

Non-credit classes will be offered in Aerobics, Karate (Shotokan and Kiempo), Lifeguarding, Body Shaping, and Tae Kwon Do. Classes are offered at various times/locations and there is a nominal registration fee charged. Complete information is available in our office, or watch for flyers around campus.

So, that's about it. We hope you will try out at least some of what we offer in Recreational Sports.....Everybody's Doin' It!

Soccer Preview- Chiefs Look for 1990 Season

The 1990 Soccer schedule begins on Friday night when the Chiefs travel to Stonehill College. The first home game is Sunday against New Haven at 1:00 pm on the field behind Costello Gymnasium.

The Chiefs have 16 lettermen from last year's team which finished 3-14-1. This year's team should be much better due to a high rate of participation. Captains Mike Considine and Mike McIntosh return for their senior seasons. Along with the captains the key players should be sophomore Dave Foley, junior Joe Gillian and senior John Pion. Foley led last season's team in assists and was tied with Pion in points. Gillian is one of the top defensemen for the Chiefs.

Lowell competes in the N.E.C.C. which features the 1989 national champion team, New Hampshire College.
